Adoption Agreement

Feathered Friends Forever assumes no responsibility for the health, disposition or medical condition of any adopted parrot. It is strongly recommended that all birds have a complete new bird exam at an avian vet within the first 48 hours. If you own another bird it is recommended that you quarantine the new birds separate from all other birds for 30-60 days. All medical costs incurred are the sole responsibility of the adopter. It is also stated that if for any reason you cannot maintain or care for the above said bird it must be returned to the rescue. The bird cannot be sold or re-homed without permission of the refuge/rescue. This includes loss of all said paid adoption fees and no recovery of vet fees paid by the adoptee.

The undersigned agrees to all the terms set forth in the above statement.
